

MODA Floors & Interiors Participates in Extreme Bedroom Makeover Project

For the fourth consecutive year, MODA Floors & Interiors and Agape Youth and Family Center, a non-profit organization, continued their "Extreme Bedroom Makeover" partnership. During the one-day event, MODA team members remodeled two bedrooms for three boys in the Bolton Road community in Northwest Atlanta.

Rooms To Go provided new beds for the project, and Rosing Paint Center donated paint and supplies. MODA team members accessorized the rooms with window coverings, comforters, pillows and wall decals that reflected the children's interests.

"This is a highlight for us each year," said Dean Howell, president of MODA Floors & Interiors, a floor and window coverings resource with showrooms in the West Midtown Design District and Town Brookhaven. "The kids are always very appreciative of their new spaces. We think Agape is doing good work in the neighborhood it serves."

Agape Youth and Family Center serves a community that includes more than 2,000 school-age children from under-served families. The center provides afterschool programs and family services that focus on academic achievement, character development, reading proficiency by third grade, high school graduation and post-graduation planning and placement.

Photo: Back row, left to right: Justin McClauseland (Lewis-Reeves); Pete Lutz; and Jerry Park. Front row, left to right: Theresa Minkoff; Janice Howell; Tasha Elrod; Lisa Franks; Jamie Franks (Atlanta Design & Build); and Rebecca Raffield.

